(By L. J. RIDICULOUS CANARD DIRECTED AT SUTTER

Seek to Blame Candidate for Not Doing That Which He Could Not Do

Campaign canards are making their appearance and the various candidates against whom they are directed are unnoved thereby. Sometimes they made up out of whole cloth, all caudidates are in fear of them since they downed know what affect upon their chances they may have and fear they will be believed by some no matter how foolush and improbable of the world meet at an days of each month. N. THOMAS, Clerk.

Probably the most remarkable can-ard that has thus far been circulated is one that was started in Johnson Addition against Fred Sutier, capdi-Addition against Fred Sutter, capdidate on the democratic ticket for superior court judge. This is to the effect that Sutter "did not sign the constitution." The amusing part of the affair is that the candidate never had an opportunity to sign the constitution. He is in the same position as are most of the other candidates on the ticket. Few of them signed the constitution and still fewer had the opportunity to do so. Had they been delegates to the Phoenix convention that framed the fundamental law for the new state of Arixona they taw for the new state of Arisona they T. O. McGrath, probably would have done so. Now that it is adopted and all must live under it as good citizens they cell the control of the control tainly subscribe to it and if it will give the voters any satisfaction they will gladly sign any copy that may be submitted to them for their signature, to give any voters who desire their autograph either on blank pa-ber or upon a copy of the document, but what good it would do if they should do this is questionable. Yes, it is true that Mr. Suiter did not sign the constitution. He cannot deny this but it is at least gard to blame a candidate for not doing that which he never had the opportunity to do. "his canned will in no wise injure the campaign of the candidate against whom it is directed for it is so wildly whom it is directed for it is so wildly relegious as to stir the risibilities.

It may also be mentioned that Wil- J. W.
